OVERVIEW

Vincent Wong's practice focuses on commercial real estate and business transactions, including purchase and sales, construction and permanent financing, and leasing. With his experience representing developers and landowners, borrowers, and commercial landlords and tenants, Vincent leverages his deep knowledge and experience of working with both sides of the transaction to maximize the benefit for his clients. Vincent also takes a multidimensional approach to provide additional client support in the areas of environmental law, land use, permitting, and nonprofit needs. His clients also benefit from his environmental law, land use, and permitting experience.

Vincent was previously with the natural resources law firm of Mitchell Chadwick LLP, where he represented Fortune 500 energy and mining companies, developers, and large landowners. His practice areas included all aspects of CEQA, Clean Water Act permitting and enforcement matters, Streambed Alteration Agreements, Incidental Take Permits, and local land use matters.

Vincent received his J.D. in 2013 from the University of California, Los Angeles School of Law. He was named a Rising Star in the 2021 through 2025 editions of Northern California Super Lawyers and was listed in Sacramento/Sactown Magazine's Top Lawyers 2021 and 2024 list for excellence in real estate law.
